

Jason Mitchell – Personal Profile

Jason lives just up the road in Cardea and has a son in year 2 at Southfields.

Jason trained as an actor at Mountview Theatre School and then worked as a professional actor for 19 years. He then joined Peterborough Regional College as a lecturer in on the BTEC Performing Arts course and the Performing Arts Degree at University Centre Peterborough where he now works part - time.

Jason also has a theatre company called Small Nose Productions which is a theatre company that make new work and deliver workshops. At present, Small Nose are developing their show which is based on a book called – I Had a Black Dog...his name was Depression.

Jason joined the Southfields' Governing Body in January 2017. Jason believes that education is a broad term and happens in all areas of school life. He believes in the idea of creativity in education and that learning needs to be fun, interesting and challenging.